AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

HER HUSBAND THREATENED TO KILL HER. CARRYING A CAN OF POISON. A KNIFE AND TWO REVOLVERS, A WEALTHY REAL-ESTATE DEALER WAKENS HIS WIFE AND

TELIS HER TO PREPARE TO DIE. Justice Goetting, in the Lee Avenue Police Court, yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Jacob Barth, a wealthy real-estate dealer, on complaint of his wife, who charged him with threatening to ake her life. Barth is believed to be insane. The family occupies a handsome house at No. 762 Park-ave. When the court officer went in search of the ave. When the court officer was in seatch of St. prisoner he learned that he had been taken to St. Catherine's Hospital, having been picked up while wandering around the streets. Mrs. Barth says her husband began to show signs of dementia a week before election. "His love for me," she declared, "seemed to change into hatred. A week ago he awakened me in the middle of the night. In one hand he had a can of poison and a knife in the other, while two revolvers were stuck in a belt around his walst. He was much excited, and declared that my time to die had come. His former love for me, he said, would let me choose the mode of death. I told him that I preferred arsenic poisoning, and would take nothing eise. He then left me to get the arsenic, and in his absence I escaped from the house and went to friends living at No. 170 Harmon-st., where I have since been living." Barth will be arraigned to-day in court, and turned over to the proper authorities for examination as to his sanity. isoner he learned that he had been taken to St.

STREET RAILROAD MEN DISCONTENTED. MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS TALK OF DE-MANDING AN INCREASE OF PAY-SOME OF

THEM RECOMMEND A STRIKE. As the end of the year approaches, when the agreements between the street-railroad companies and their employes are renewed, the latter are agi-tating the subject of demanding an increase of pay, The additional skill required from the motormen for the trolley system over managing horses is held as sufficient warrant for asking that their pay be increased from $2 a day to $2.25 or $2.50, while the conductors say that the large cars of the Brooklyn City Company require more labor in collecting fares, and that they should have a like Numerous meetings are being held by the railroad men, and the conservative ones urge that the hard times are sufficient to prevent any demand for an increase of wages being successful, and that the railroad companies have had such great expense in equipping their lines with the troiley that they are in no position to accede to a demand for an advance. For the Brooklyn City Company alone an increase of 50 cents a day for each employe would add $730,000 to the annual payroll.

each employe would add $7.39,000 to the annual payroll.

The hot-headed men who urge the demand for an advance say that it could be enforced by a strike, as skilled men to act as motormen could not be secured in place of the strikers, and also that it would be easy to cripple the operation of the roads by cutting the wires. But the great majority of the railroad employes deprecate any resort to such methods. They say that strikes would not prove successful, and that the men are in no condition to maintain themselves if they should strike, for the treasuries of the labor organizations are practically empty. It would seem that the agitation of the matter at the present time is likely to result as in recent years, in a renewal of the existing agreements, which expire on January 1.

THIEVES KNEEL AT A GRAVE.

girls were Emily and Esther Brown, daughters of Alfred L. Brown, of No. 196 Duncanave. Leslie A. Brown, their uncle, lives next door. He and his family went away yesterday on a visit. About II o'clock the nieces saw two men enter the house, but as they let themselves in with a key, the girls supposed their uncle had sent them. But when they saw the men come had sent them. But when they saw the men come out a few minutes later with new overcoats on they decided the visitors were thieves and followed them. They met several young friends, whom they asked to join them, and finally the men, looking back and seeing the children watching them, became suspicious in their turn, and when they reached the cemetery they joined a funeral procession, following a hearse through the gates. The Brown girls then sent one of their companions to summon Policeman Clemenson, who lives near the cemetery. Another officer, named Higgins, was also at the house, and he and Clemenson hurried to the cemetery after summoning the patrol wagon from the Fourth Precinct police station. When they reached the cemetery the girls pointed out the men, who were then kneeling with the mourners beside a grave which was being filled. The arrest was made as quietly as possible, but naturally created a scene, the prisoners protesting against what they called a "shameful outrage." But the Brown children positively identified them, One of the men tried to escape. He was quickly caught and nandcuffed to his companion, and when the patrol wagon came they were taken to the Fourth Precinct police station. They said they were George Williams, of Philadelphia, and William Watts, of No. 13 Hudson-ave., Brooklyn.
